

Knopik Varner Moore

Trial Attorneys

Alfred Villoch, III

Alfred Villoch, III is an associate attorney for KNOPIK VARNER MOORE, a small firm of trial lawyers in Tampa, Florida. He has experience in commercial litigation, medical malpractice litigation and bankruptcy cases, to name a few areas.

Mr. Villoch graduated from the Penn State – Dickinson School of Law, where he was the Editor-in-Chief of the Penn State International Law Review. He was admitted to the Bar in the States of Florida and Delaware and the U.S. District Courts for the Middle District of Florida and the District of Delaware. He is currently a member of the Hillsborough County and American Bar Associations.

Mr. Villoch is co-author of “Retainers for a Debtor's Professionals: A Market-driven Approach” in the American Bankruptcy Institute Journal, Vol. XXIII, No. 9 (Nov. 2004). He is also the author of “Europe's Mobile Opportunity: Can the European Union Legislate Consumer Trust and Compete in the E-Commerce Market with the United States” in the Penn State International Law Review (2002).

---

“We move complex cases expeditiously and cost effectively.”

---

Alfred Villoch, III